FLY YOUR BIKE

Q & A

Can I ship my motorcycle to a destination not listed on the Fly Your Bike program?

Unfortunately, due to the various customs regulations we cannot accept booking requests outside of the program from a private individual.

What do I have to do to prepare for my motorbike to be shipped as a dangerous good?

Motorbikes are classified as dangerous goods in air transport. The booking agent will provide information on the documentation requirements and process for preparing the motorbike for transport.

How much will it cost?

We offer two-tier pricing structure based on whether or not you are traveling on Air Canada as a passenger and shipping the motorbike as Cargo, or simply shipping your motorbike as cargo. The rate is for each origin-destination. Our rates are one way in local currency of origin country. Price includes: fuel surcharge, security surcharge, navigation tax at departure, screening fee, and Dangerous Goods fee. Additional charges and taxes may apply based on local charges at origin or destination and terminal fees. Please contact your local Air Canada Cargo office for our special pricing.

How much time will it take my bike to reach its destination?

Your motorbike will usually travel on the same aircraft as passengers, arriving at the same time. Recovery time at destination can be longer than 4 hours sometimes, if the motorbike is shipped on the same flight as you. Therefore, it can sometimes be preferable to book and ship a day prior to your travel date. This will avoid you waiting at your destination. Also some destinations require prearrangements with a local broker to clear the motorbike at destination.

How far in advance do I take my motorbike to Air Canada Cargo?

The motorbike can be tendered at our facilities up to 24 hours prior to departure time.

Will the bike ride on my flight?

We can book your motorbike on the same flight as you, however it would be preferable if it is booked and shipped a day prior to your travel date*. This will avoid you waiting at your destination. Recovery time at destination can be longer than 4 hours sometimes, if the motorbike is shipped on the same flight as you.

 Additional storage charges may apply at destination*

 Departure date of motorbike Destination Shipper name, address, telephone contact number, and email address Receiver (consignee) name, address, telephone contact number
 Dimension of motorbike (length, width, height) Approximate weight (motorbike will be weighed at Air Canada Cargo facility and booking adjusted accordingly) Obtain Dangerous Goods consultant name and contact number to schedule an appointment.

Can I insure my motorbike?

Yes, we offer damage insurance at 3% per amount of insurance requested in local currency. Coverage is for damage incurred during transportation by Air Canada Cargo. For additional coverage please contact your local insurance company.

What do I do if damage has occurred during transport?

A claim will need to be filed and you will need to prove damage occurred during transport with pictures and documentation outlining the damage. Also estimated repair cost and proof of value of the motorbike will be needed.

Is it recommended to insure my motorbike?

Yes, it protects you against potential damage and loss.

Who will do the customs clearance at destination?

The person who will pick up the motorbike at destination. Usually it is the consignee. Some destinations will require the assistance of a Freight Forwarder. Please ask the agent at time of booking which destinations require this service.

Who is responsible for providing customs documents at origin?

The shipper.

Who will load and strap down the motorbike?

Once your motorbike is handed over to us and accepted, the motorbike is loaded and strapped down by a qualified cargo agent.
